

My name is Marie Paule Senger, and I am 47 years old. I am currently in charge of Professional Commercial Licenses at the Catholic University, located in Guingamp (Brittany, France). Before taking on this role at the university, I worked for 20 years as a Purchasing Manager in the agri-food sector. I held this position in both small businesses and large groups, collaborating with suppliers based in France and abroad (Asia, Europe, and Latin America). As a result, I have developed expertise in purchasing management and various tools such as intercultural negotiation, international logistics, team management, project management, marketing, and communication.
